Voice

The musical score is written for a single voice part in treble clef, key of B-flat major (two flats), and common time (C). It consists of five staves of music. The lyrics are written below the notes, with some words split across lines. The score includes measure numbers 6, 11, 17, and 23. The music features a mix of eighth, quarter, and half notes, with some phrases marked with slurs.

Faculty Excellence Award Winners

The Faculty Excellence Awards were initiated by the UA Little Rock Foundation Fund Board of Directors in 1989 to recognize outstanding performance in teaching, research or creative endeavors, and public service. The awards of social justice and rising faculty were added in 2023. Colleges and schools select an honoree in each of the five categories. A panel of external judges reviews the achievements of the college-level winners and selects the university-wide winner in each category. Each university-wide winner receives a cash prize of $5,000.

Donaghey Scholars Honors Program

As UA Little Rock's university-wide honors program, the Donaghey Scholars Program serves the university and our community by bringing together high-achieving students who share a commitment to curiosity, interdisciplinary approaches to problems, and responsible engagement with the world. Scholars are challenged academically through a comprehensive interdisciplinary core curriculum designed to promote critical thinking. The full scholarship allows Scholars to engage in research, internships, and civic activity. They develop into collaborative, open-minded, independent thinkers who bring a broad base of knowledge as well as a strong sense of ethics and a depth of expertise to their careers and lives. Program graduates have gone on to win competitive national awards and gain acceptance into prestigious graduate schools.

Today, these students are distinguished by wearing maroon robes and black stoles with maroon stripes.

Alumni Association Message to Graduates

I graduated from UA Little Rock in the fall of 2006, nearly two decades ago. Ours was the first commencement held in the new Jack Stephens Center. Like you, I had worked hard to earn the right to walk across that stage, hear my name called, and feel the sense of accomplishment I'd been chasing for years.

Because I had focused on graduation as the goal for so long, I tucked my diploma into my pocket and moved on. I relocated, started a career, and channeled my determination into whatever came next.

It wasn't until years later—after earning a graduate degree and gaining professional experience—that I truly understood the value of the education I received at UA Little Rock.

And now, you carry that same quality education with you.

Commencement comes with many things—one of which is unsolicited advice. So here's mine: stay open to the most exciting thing this moment offers you—opportunity.

You may feel like you need to chase your next goal alone, but you are now a part of a growing Trojan alumni network, a community working together to strengthen the legacy of this university and expand opportunity for those who come next. It took me ten years to join the alumni association. I wish I had joined the day I graduated.

Because beyond supporting future students, joining also connects you to a powerful legion of fellow Trojans who can help you write the next chapter of your own story.

Congratulations, and welcome to the alumni family.

Go Trojans!

— Guy Choate
2025 Alumni Board President

Edward Lynn Whitbeck Memorial Award

Paige Blair

Paige Blair is the 2025 recipient of the Edward L. Whitbeck Memorial Award, the highest honor given to a graduating senior at UA Little Rock. A first-generation college student from Twin Groves, Arkansas, Blair is graduating with a bachelor's degree in anthropology and a Certificate of Proficiency in Applied Archaeology.

Blair has excelled as a student, researcher, and community volunteer. She interned at the Arkansas State Crime Laboratory—becoming the first UA Little Rock anthropology student to do so—and conducted original forensic research now used as a model for future students. She also earned the Mark Hartmann Student Fieldwork Award twice, using the awards to attend a forensic course at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville and conduct archaeological research with the Arkansas Archeological Survey that she presented at multiple academic conferences.

Blair helped revitalize the university's Anthropology Club and contributed to numerous fieldwork and public archaeology projects, including the Garden Site Archaeology Project on campus. She played a key role in community outreach efforts such as a public open house during Arkansas Archaeology Month and a library exhibit showcasing local artifacts. Her ethnographic research on Catholic mass traditions also earned her the F. Brent Knutson Memorial Award for Excellence in Religious Studies.

Known for her intellectual curiosity, leadership, and dedication to public engagement, Blair leaves UA Little Rock with a 4.0 GPA, the Most Outstanding Graduating Senior in Anthropology Award, and the distinction of being the first graduate of the university's Applied Archaeology Certificate program. She plans to gain field experience in Florida before pursuing graduate studies in historical archaeology.

Undergraduate Honors

To graduate Summa Cum Laude, a student must have earned a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.90 and met the honors policy hours criteria.

To graduate Magna Cum Laude, a student must have earned a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.70 and met the honors policy hours criteria.

To graduate Cum Laude, a student must have earned a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.50 and met the honors policy hours criteria.

To graduate with an associate degree with Honors, a student must have earned a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.70 and not have completed more than 83 credit hours.

NOTICE: The list of candidates for Spring 2025 graduation was prepared before final grades were reported and inclusion herein does not constitute evidence of graduation. Final action to ensure an accurate listing of names of all persons qualified for degrees cannot be taken before this program was published. This listing of a name in this program should not be construed as an indication that the person will in fact receive a degree at this commencement. Conversely, the absence of a name from the program list does not necessarily mean that the person will not be awarded a degree. This program included all those who applied to graduate in Spring 2025 and Summer 2025 prior to April 4, 2025. Commencement honors for Spring 2025 graduates do not include final grades. Final honors for Spring 2025 applicants will be calculated using final grades during graduation checkout. Honors for Summer 2025 graduates are not noted in this program as they are not in their final semester. Summer 2025 graduates that qualify for honors will have a confirmed and final honors designation that is notated on their diploma and transcript and will be listed in the Fall 2025 Commencement program.

Commencement

An Ending and a Beginning Steeped in Tradition

UA Little Rock's commencement exercise, a ceremony filled with pomp, color, and music, is steeped in traditions, some of which date back to the Middle Ages. Now, as then, commencement is the opportunity for a university to demonstrate that it has fulfilled its basic missions: educating people to become leaders in professions and society, and awarding the degrees that represent their work and achievements as scholars. Commencement means "beginning," but it comes at the end of a student's academic experience, marking the beginning of a graduate's life as the holder of a degree.

Chancellor's Medallion – During UA Little Rock's graduation, a silver chain and medallion bearing the UA Little Rock official seal and the name and dates of service of each past Chancellor are worn by Chancellor Christina S. Drale, who represents the entire university.

The Mace – One of the lesser known artifacts connected with commencement is the mace, which today is a ceremonial device, borne with great dignity into commencement halls, signifying that those who follow are persons of authority and achievement. The mace, carried by the Grand Marshal, was designed and hand-crafted in purple heart, mulberry, and bronze by artist Jack R. Slentz while he was a graduate teaching assistant in sculpture in the UA Little Rock Department of Art, working under the supervision of Michael Warrick.

Banners – Banners and standards have long marked significant assemblies—armies, churches, and powerful families. During UA Little Rock's commencement, you will see a maroon, silver, and white banner carried into the hall at the head of each college group.

Marshals – The leader of the academic procession is the Grand Marshal who carries the mace in the port arms position as they enter the hall. At UA Little Rock, the Grand Marshal is the president of the UA Little Rock Assembly – the university faculty's governing body for academic issues. Today's Grand Marshal is Angela Hunter. You will also see faculty and student marshals who have been selected to lead groups of candidates for graduation to their seating in the hall.

Music – The sequence of the musical program today with featured music, processionals, and recessionals is traditional.

The Dais Party – The last retinue to enter the commencement hall will be seated on the dais, where much of the ceremony will be conducted. The dais party includes the Chancellor, Provost, Vice Chancellors, Deans, other university officials and guests, and representatives of the UA Little Rock Board of Visitors, University of Arkansas System, and UA Board of Trustees.

Academic Regalia – The tradition of distinctive academic attire originated in Europe in the 12th century. A black scholar's gown and black square hat, known as the mortarboard, are almost universally used in the U. S. for holders of the bachelor's degree. Some universities authorize robes of different colors for holders of doctoral degrees, who have three velvet stripes on the sleeves of their robes and wear colorful hoods that extend down their backs. Those with master's degrees wear robes with closed sleeves and arms extended through slits in the body of the gown. Master's hoods are slightly shorter than those worn by doctoral degree holders. Candidates for undergraduate degrees (associate and baccalaureate) wear maroon tassels. Candidates for graduate degrees wear black tassels, while doctoral candidates, as well as those who hold doctoral degrees, wear gold or silver tassels.

UA Little Rock Variations – UA Little Rock has made few changes in commencement since 1928, when the school, then known as Little Rock Junior College, awarded degrees to its first 12 graduates. The color of the caps and gowns was initially black, then a bright magenta-maroon shade, and then back to black.

University of Arkansas at Little Rock

The University of Arkansas at Little Rock is a metropolitan research university located in the heart of Arkansas that provides quality education through flexible learning and unparalleled internship opportunities. The university traces its roots to 1927, when the Little Rock Board of Education started Little Rock Junior College. In 1957, the institution began a four-year degree program, and 12 years later, Little Rock University merged with the University of Arkansas System and became the University of Arkansas at Little Rock.

Today, UA Little Rock prepares its students to be innovators and leaders in their fields. The university is the state's most diverse campus in Arkansas, serving a student population of full- and part-time traditional and adult learners. The university continues to be a driving force in Little Rock's thriving business and cultural community and a major component of the city and state's growing profile as a regional leader in research, technology, economic development, and job creation.
