REGISTRATION BY DIVISION

What You Can Register For and When

All students are restricted by division when registering for required classes. For example, full-time students may not enroll in an evening Lawyering Skills I class, and part-time students may not take Property I during the day. Bar-tested subjects (like Family Law and Business Associations) and electives are restricted by division until Open Registration begins. Once Open Registration starts, students in any division may enroll in these classes.

Required Courses (R)	You MUST take these within your division (including Lawyering Skills I and II).
Bar Courses (B)	These classes are restricted by division during Priority Registration. You may register for bar classes outside your division during Open Registration.
Elective Courses	You may register for these courses outside your division during Open Registration.
Summer Courses	You may register for these courses regardless of your division.

Graduation Requirements

Upper Level Writing

The purpose of the Upper Level Writing Requirement is to have each student individually complete at least one rigorous extended piece of legal writing (in addition to those in RWA). The Upper Level Writing Requirement requires each student to demonstrate his or her ability to apply each of these skills in producing one substantial, cohesive piece of legal writing prior to graduating from law school.

Policy and Perspectives

Each student is required to take at least one course from selections designated by the Law Faculty or the Curriculum Committee are grounded in jurisprudential, historical, and public policy concepts.

Experiential Learning

Students matriculating at the law school after July 1, 2015 are required to satisfy the Experiential Learning Requirement (ELR) in order to graduate. The ELR consists of three components:

FAQ's

What if I want to take less than the minimum course load required for my division?

The Academic Rules require students to enroll in a minimum number of hours during a term based on their division. A student who needs to take less than the minimum load should fill out a Petition to Take Less than the Minimum Load or speak to the Assistant Dean of Student Affairs about switching divisions.

When I tried to register for the class, it was full! Is there any way to get into the class?

If you find that a course is full by the time you register for classes, you may be added to the waiting list through BOSS. Please be aware that being placed on this list does not guarantee that a slot will open in the course.

Does it matter which Lawyering Skills section I take?

No. All Lawyering Skills sections cover the same course content.

How do I register for a Spring intersession class?

Contact the registrar at law-records@ualr.edu and request to be added to the class. The Academic Rules restrict you to one 1-credit hour course per week during an intersession.

I applied for a clinic but I'm not sure if I have been accepted. What should I do about my schedule?

Register for a full course load that does not include the clinic you have chosen. Once you have been accepted, you will be notified by the clinic faculty. You must then drop a class so that the clinical course may be added to your schedule by the registrar.
